This video asks the tongue-in-cheek question, “Why should mums get all the glory?” Chris Fifo believes first-year flowering, seed-raised perennials are perfect for Fall sales. Chris explains how to produce large perennial containers for Fall, grown from plugs, bringing big margins at retail. And producing perennials for Fall means you can grow them outdoors with minimal special care needed. He takes you through finishing under natural long days and the specific classes that require some bulking. He wraps up with some of his top picks for Fall sales.
