WEST CHICAGO, IL – Ball Seed has released its most recent Ball Mums catalog for the 2018 growing season. It is the first full garden mums catalog since 2015, filled with exciting selections. With a great new look, it is the same great resource for growers. This edition is organized by color for quick reference. Habit, timing, bloom date and more is also provided for each variety to make your buying decision easier.

The expanding expert team behind Ball Mums is lead by Ed Higgins (“Mr. Mum”) who oversees trials and selection, and ensures timing information is updated every year. Through his experience and expertise, new garden mums are introduced and celebrated, like new SKYFALL mums for hanging baskets.

“The 2018 Ball Mums catalog features garden mums for all uses, from baskets to landscapes,” says Joan Mazat, head of new product development for Ball Ingenuity, the division in charge of Ball Mums. “The evaluations found inside, combined with Ball Seed’s top-notch customer service and technical teams, creates a partnership that supports you and your program.”

Additional catalog features include top-sellers and trends, designer mix options, “family” groupings for program sell-through, tech tips, and more. Visit www.ballseed.com to see a digital version of the Ball Mums catalog. To request a printed copy, please contact your Ball Seed or Ball ColorLink representative.
