

PanAmerican Seed Plant Culture Now Available In Multi-Language Translations

PanAmerican Seed has updated its online culture page to include GrowerFacts in multiple language translations for greenhouse growers.

WEST CHICAGO, IL – PanAmerican Seed is happy to provide new plant culture online in multi-language translations across its wide range of greenhouse products. Beyond accurate and real-time culture details available in English, all PanAmerican Seed GrowerFacts now include translations in Spanish, Dutch, German, French, and Italian. In some instances, Japanese GrowerFacts are available as well.

“As an international leader in plant breeding, we strive for education and a better understanding of our products. Offering critical growing information in multiple languages helps our customers produce the best-quality plants for the end consumer,” says Claire Josephson, Product Marketing Manager for PanAmerican Seed.
